

Course Description: AP Psychology students will explore topics that include research methods, biological basis of behavior, psychological disorders and their treatment, sensation and perception, states of consciousness, memory, thinking, language, learning, intelligence, motivation, emotion, personality, human development, and social psychology.

Unit: Scientific Foundations of Psychology

Topic: Introduction

Topic: Fathers and Schools of Psychology

Topic: Perspectives

Topic: Research and Ethical Guidelines

Topic: Analyzing results & Statistics

Unit: Biological Basis For Behavior

Topic: Neuron

Topic: Nervous system

Topic: The brain

Topic: Methods of Studying the brain

Topic: States of Consciousness

Unit: Sensation and Perception

Topic: Basic Principles

Topic: 6 Senses

Topic: Rules of perception and cultural influence

Unit: Learning

Topic: Classical conditioning

Topic: Operant conditioning

Unit: Cognitive Psychology

Topic: Memory

Topic: Cognition

Topic: Language

Unit: Developmental Psychology

Topic: Physical development

Topic: Social development

Topic: Cognitive development

Topic: Moral development

Topic: Gender and sexual orientation

Unit: Motivation, Emotion, and Personality

Topic:

Topic: Theories of emotion

Topic: Stress

Topic: Personality and trait theories

Unit: Clinical Psychology

Topic: Psychological disorders and treatments

Unit: Social Psychology

Topic: Group dynamics